Mtg agenda will be the usual w/focus on budget - Denali Commission presentation. So conf-ing in works just fine. Thanks!

And this morning's ADN story... shhhheeeeesh, what a tangled web.

The more I hear, the more I recall when I worked amongst them (Randy especially) at AOGCC, the more things fit together and lead to where we are today: we're trying to run an ethical, trustworthy ship... we have hugely vocal naysayers who are blind... But we're made out to be naive, we have people on board whom I still don't know well enough to trust... Arggghh. It's exciting! And clear to me how the process evolved and caught up with the state in regards to failed progress on gasline... And it's clear to me things will be revealed and made whole again in due time.

I just noticed the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday. Do you have a specific topic we're going to cover or is it a general catch up meeting?

At this juncture I had planned to be back in Juneau on Wednesday so thought I would attend the Cabinet meeting from ANC conference room (unless you want me there in person for something specific). Just let me know. Thanks.

Fyi,

How about a meeting at a favorite ice fishing hole? You and Todd can pop in on your snow machines in your Carhartts? That way they can continue to feel like real Alaskans. :)

Good luck with your visit with these guys. They seem intent on putting us in a bad light. Don't know the secret to getting them to give us the benefit of the doubt...Just be yourself and it will work out. We have the benefit of the truth on our side.

Gov. Murkowski stopped by Former Gov. Frank Murkowski stopped by the office for a chat on Wednesday.

He wanted to set the record straight on an AP story that was printed in the paper that day. But it strikes me that, post-election, he's been to the News-Miner office at least three times. Twice more than current Gov. Sarah Palin.

Gov. Sarah is booked for a visit in a few days, though, so the tally will soon be tied at two each — although one of these people is no longer in public office and managed to squeeze in a trip around the world between visits.

As he walked through the front door in his wide-brimmed hat, and wearing a red flannel shirt under a blazer, I couldn't help thinking about the first time I met Mr. Murkowski face-to-face.

I'd been in the state only a couple of years and a friend and I had navigated a bargain-basement riverboat loaded with decoys and a couple of rambunctious young Labradors out to a prime- looking duck hunting hole on Minto Flats.

Not long after we settled in, we saw a beautiful Grumman Widgeon land on a nearby lake. That afternoon a couple of older gentlemen came paddling an old canoe over to our camp. We shared some camp coffee and small talk about ducks we've shot and dogs we've known and they went on their way. We didn't share names.

"Nice old guys," my buddy said. He didn't know who they were.

I told him the one guy was U.S. Senator Frank Murkowski and the other was a pioneer Alaska aviator named Richard Wien — although i think I stumbled over Mr. Wien's name at the time. "That was their Widgeon," I said.

We agreed that we had moved to a pretty cool state if one of the first people you meet out duck hunting in the marsh is your U.S. senator. But, mostly, I remember my buddy got a big smile on his face and saying something like, "We must be in a good spot! Them old farts were over here checking us out!"

We had our disagreements with the Murkowski administration over the years, but Frank Murkowski has always known the value of face-to-face meetings — and he knows the good spots to have them.

I hope Gov. Palin picks up this skill while she's in office.
